DICTATORSHIP LEGALLY FALLS

Socialists Withdraw Members
From German Cabinet.
DEMANDS FLATLY REJECTED

Chancellor Stresemann Assailed From All Sides, but Declares He Will Continue to Govern Dictatorially For the Present—Political and Economic Crisis in Germany Admitted to Be Acute—Late Developments.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—Germany's first attempt at government by constitutional or parliamentary dictatorship legally fell after lasting 19 days.

Dictator Stresemann rejected the Socialist demands that he raise the military state of siege throughout the country and withdraw the troops from Saxony. Thereupon the Socialist party withdrew its three members from the Stresemann cabinet—Minister of the Interior Hollman, Vice-Chancellor Schmidt and Minister of Justice Radbrich.

With that action the law investing the Stresemann cabinet with extraordinary dictatorial powers came automatically to an end. The law specifically provided that it would remain in force only as long as the present coalition government held together.

Whether the Stresemann dictatorship falls in fact as well as ending legally is dependent largely on whether Stresemann submits to parliament again or openly flouts it by refusing to recognize the law.

The chancellor said he would continue to govern dictatorially under paragraph 48 of the constitution, possibly creating a dictatorship of himself, Minister of the Reichswehr Gessler and Minister of Labor Brauns. Other reports are that he will try to replace the Socialists with Nationalists and go before the reichstag next week with a rebuilt cabinet.

Stresemann is now drawn into the vortex of a political whirlpool, which threatens to engulf him. The entire left, from the Socialists to the Communists, are against him because he used the army to put down the bolshevik revolt in Saxony. The right, that is, the Nationalists, are against him because he had Socialists in the cabinet and they consider him compromised.

Hugo Stinnes asserted industrialists have opened an offensive against Stresemann, that he must go, in order to clear the path for an out and out right, or Nationalist, cabinet, or dictatorship.

Stresemann expressed the view that Germany is so "volcanic" and that the political and economic crisis is so acute that it would be sheer folly to leave the country without a government for the few days that would be required to get a new cabinet together. Therefore he has decided to remain. He exchanged views with President Ebert over the telephone, and the president approved of his stand.

SEPARATISTS REPULSED

Attack Aix-la-Chapelle City Hall, but Are Driven Back.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—A massed attack of 800 shock troops of the Rhenish separatists on the city hall at Aix-la-Chapelle was driven back by the local forces. In a pitched battle with the green police and the fire fighting force, the separatists were defeated and driven out of town. This attack is considered the first of an offensive on a large scale planned by the separatists.

The leader of the Rhenish separatists, Matthes, is reported to have organized flying battalions for the purpose of invading towns and cities in the Rhineland, driving out the German officials and taking possession.

In Aix-la-Chapelle the separatists advanced with guns, bombs and battering rams. The defenders of the city hall met them with streams of water, whereupon the separatists cut off the water supply.

Corn Liquor Confiscated.

Steubenville, O., Nov. 3.—A shipment of 112 gallons of corn liquor, alleged to have been brought here to be used for campaign purposes in connection with next Tuesday's election, was confiscated by Enforcement Officer John Cole. Tom Maiti was arrested, charged with transporting the liquor here.

All records for locomotive production were broken when the Baldwin Locomotive company, Philadelphia, turned out 31 engines of the latest type in 80 hours.

SPEED RECORD SMASHED

Aviator Williams of the Navy Flies at Rate of 258 miles an Hour.

New York, Nov. 3.—A world's record for human flight stood as the record for just one hour, being surpassed by a new mark almost before the report of the flight had been typed.

Lieutenant A. J. Williams, flying a Curtiss navy racer, Mitchell field, plunged through space at the unprecedented average speed of 258 1/2 miles an hour. His blinding flight was made while the officers of the field were still congratulating Lieutenant Harold W. Brown on his great feat that made him world champion with a speed of 257 1/2 miles an hour. Brown also used a Curtiss navy plane.

However, Williams failed to equal the mark of 263 miles an hour that Brown set on one lap of his flight, a leg down the wind. Williams' performance was: First lap, against wind, 259 miles; second lap, with wind, 260 miles; third lap, against wind, 256 miles; and fourth lap, with wind, 259 miles.

Former Crown Prince to Return.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—After five years of exile, the former Crown Prince Wilhelm has been given formal permission to return to Germany. The German foreign office has instructed the German consulate at Amsterdam to issue a passport and visa to the former heir to the imperial throne upon demand of the exile. Even the Socialist members in the cabinet, who consider Wilhelm's presence in Germany as a possible danger to the republic, did not oppose his return. Chancellor Stresemann himself argued that if the Bavarian crown prince and the ex-king of Saxony could live in Germany, as they do, without causing trouble or endangering the republic, there is no good reason why young Wilhelm should be kept out any longer.

FOOD PRICES SOARING

Sold Notes Give Final Death Stab to the Paper Mark.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—One sour pickle costs four billion German marks. That illustrates the abyss into which German currency has fallen. All idea of any value in paper marks has disappeared. Officially the exchange rate for the mark has been set at 320,000,000,000 to the dollar. Strangely, the new gold value currency of the government gave the final death stab to the paper mark, and sent it below any mark ever set by any currency which still remained in use. Because the gold value currency has a stable value people offer any price in paper marks to get it. Then the gold value notes are hoarded like gold itself. The result is that the dollar notes continue to exceed even dollar notes in paper mark price and disappear from circulation as soon as issued. Prices of food continue to skyrocket, doing a dizzy, pyramiding dance as prices are "jazzed up" almost every half hour.

Merchandise Hauled Away.

Youngstown, O., Nov. 3.—Furs and other merchandise valued at more than $30,000 were stolen from the Charles Livingston & Sons company's department store by thieves, who gained entrance through a trapdoor in the roof. An auto was backed up to the rear of the place and the merchandise hauled away.

Five bandits, armed with rifles, robbed the First National bank of Bokeron, 30 miles from Johnstown, Pa., and escaped with $2,000, after wounding one man and stealing three automobiles.

PROSECUTIONS IMMINENT

Coolidge and Cabinet Review Charges of Graft.
VIGOROUS ACTION PROMISED

Department of Justice Going Over Allegations of Fraud in the Veterans' Bureau and Conducting an Independent Inquiry—Prosecutions Both Civil and Criminal to Be Instituted by the Government.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Charges of graft and fraud in the veterans' bureau, now being aired before a senate committee, were reviewed in full for the first time by President Coolidge and his cabinet.

It was decided, it is learned, to put every facility and energy of the government back of prosecutions seeking to convict any person guilty of misusing funds intended for the relief of disabled soldiers. The prosecutions will be both civil and criminal, the first to recover all "graft" possible, and in the second instance to put persons flagrantly guilty in jail.

The department of justice will immediately take over the work of securing evidence and preparing for indictments. If necessary, it will establish a division as comprehensive as the one which is now devoting its energies exclusively to the task of prosecuting persons guilty of defrauding the government on contracts during the war.

Just prior to meeting with his cabinet the president held a long conference with Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, who is directing the inquiry. The senator is understood to have gone over with President Coolidge the evidence already produced of alleged graft in the building of hospitals and disposal of supplies, as well as evidence yet to be brought out.

The opinion of Senator Reed was asked on the gravity of the charges and if the inquiry presented a situation as serious as indicated. He is said to have told the president that the charges are such that they should be taken up at once by the legal department of the government and indictments asked as early as possible.

Attorney General Daugherty was able to tell the cabinet that the department of justice already is actually at work on an inquiry and is receiving from the senate committee such assistance and co-operation as it is possible to obtain.

JOHNSON KNOCKED OUT IN FIFTEENTH ROUND

Exhibits Gameness in His Bout With Jack Renault.

New York, Nov. 3.—Floyd Johnson fell as limp as the towel his manager, Charley Cook, tossed into the ring in the last minute of a bloody 15-round fight with Jack Renault of Canada, at Madison Square Garden last night.

Thirty-one seconds remained of the round when Renault clipped the game young fellow from Iowa under the chin with a right uppercut. Johnson, his face cut and bleeding from a continued slashing from Renault's left, staggered. Renault sprang at him and let fly another uppercut, which knocked Johnson over. The man, who is well named "the Iowa Bulldog," got to his knees from blind instinct more than anything else, his gloves trailing in the rosin dust. Then he staggered to his feet and reeled around unable to put his hands up. Renault punched him with another right uppercut, but almost as he drew back for the blow Cook threw the towel in. The referee did not see the rag. The punch landed. Johnson, whose chin was cut from a succession of uppercuts earlier in the fight, went down again as Cook and his second rushed into the ring.

It took Cook nearly 10 minutes to revive Johnson as the lowan sat limply on his stool in his corner after the fight, and not one of the 10,000 men and women left the building until they saw Johnson on his feet. Then they gave a big cheer for the amazing courage he had displayed in coming on and on round after round under a fierce bombardment of punches, and always trying to make a fight of it.

Medical experts have been called into the case to determine the cause of death.

AMERICA SEEKS FULL INQUIRY

Hughes Proposal Open to Acceptance or Rejection.
COOLIDGE OUTLINES STAND

Participation of United States in Reparations Dispute Depends Upon Acceptance of the Hughes Plan For Full Inquiry Into Germany's Ultimate Capacity to Pay—Official Information Awaited.

Washington, Nov. 3.—American participation in the reparations controversy depends upon acceptance of the Hughes plan for a full inquiry into Germany's ultimate capacity to pay.

Such was President Coolidge's reply to declarations by Premier Poincare and the French foreign office that the scope of the investigation should deal only with Germany's present capacity.

The president's view, set forth at the white house by an authorized spokesman after the cabinet meeting, is that the American proposal is "inclusive and broad," and takes in Germany's capacity to pay, not this minute, not today, not tomorrow, but ultimately to the limit of her ability.

Mr. Coolidge's estimate of the situation may be summarized as follows. First, the inquiry must be along such lines as will be likely to produce real results; second, the American proposal is open to acceptance or rejection, not to such restrictions as would make futile the inquiry, and third, if the proposal is accepted, no American member will, in any way, represent the United States government.

The entire reparations controversy was gone over thoroughly at the cabinet meeting. Secretary of State Hughes presented a "full report on the progress made thus far." The cabinet learned that the state department is without official information covering French proposals for limiting the scope of the inquiry under the Hughes plan. M. Poincare has communicated officially only with the British government and has dealt with the United States merely in an informal manner.

Press despatches from abroad, however, were gone over by the president and his advisers, as were the formal and informal diplomatic communications received by Secretary Hughes. The diplomatic communications were interpreted as indicating "hopeful acceptance" of the Hughes scheme.

Attention was directed to the fact that the original Hughes proposal was for an inquiry "broad and inclusive and not limited in any way." The cabinet realized that those nations to which the Hughes plan had been submitted were free to accept or reject it.

HOLDS HER OWN

Mrs. Helen Stokes Submits to Grilling Cross-Examination.

New York, Nov. 3.—Helen Ellwood Stokes, young wife of W. E. D. Stokes, millionaire sportsman, submitted to more than four hours' grilling cross-examination in the suit for divorce brought against her. On the whole, her testimony was a blanket denial of all statements made by plaintiff's witnesses which tended to show her friendship with Edgar T. Wallace, millionaire co-respondent, or to portray weaknesses of character or indiscreet actions.

Attorney Steuer's questions covered a varied field. He asked about house parties which Mrs. Stokes attended in Wyoming and Wisconsin during her girlhood. He inquired into the matter of probably incriminating kodak pictures said to have been "planted" in the defendant's picture album by the plaintiff after he came into her possession. He wanted to know if she knew various prosecution witnesses who had declared on the stand that they had seen Mrs. Stokes in the apartment of the co-respondent. To all she gave decided answers, mostly in the negative.

Three Asphyxiated.

Lindin, N. J., Nov. 3.—Mrs. Anna Hazedusch, 29, a widow, killed herself and her two children by gas asphyxiation in their modest home here. She apparently turned on the gas after putting the children, Frank, 10, and Andrew, 5, to bed.

School Girl Loses Life.

Cincinnati, Nov. 3.—Ten-year-old Estelle Hill ran into the path of an automobile, which hurled her to the pavement, inflicting injuries from which she died a few hours later.

CANADIAN SKIPPER QUILTS

Refuses to Abide by the Decision of the Racing Committee.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 3.—A wrathful Scotch skipper put an end to the squabble over the international fishermen's racing championship when Captain Angus Walters, defying the committee's order to race again, sailed the "Bluenose" for Lunenburg, announcing, "I'll race no more this year."

The Bluenose beat the American schooner Columbia in two consecutive races. But on a protest by the Columbia crew that the Canadian craft had passed to landward of a shallow water buoy, instead of going by it to seaward, as required by the rules, the committee awarded the second race to the Columbia, and named Saturday for the third and deciding match. Then up rose Captain Walters and said he would not stand for it. With this situation to face the committee called the series off, returned the trophy to the race trust and split the $500 prize money between the crews of the two craft.

Transatlantic Broadcasting.

London, Nov. 3.—"If our hopes materialize the night between Dec. 1 and 2 will mark the first real step forward in transatlantic broadcasting," declared P. P. Eckersley, chief engineer of the British Broadcasting company. In an informal announcement issued by the company, it was stated that there will be an attempt on the night of Nov. 28 to broadcast a message to America, but behind the announcement is the scheme to make the whole science of broadcasting definitely international.

LLOYD GEORGE SAILS

Carries With Him an Understanding of America's Vastness.

New York, Nov. 3.—David Lloyd George, wife, daughter and other members of the party sailed on the Majestic for England at noon today. Lloyd George carries with him not only an understanding of the vastness of America, exceeding all his previous notions in that respect, but a sympathetic understanding of American mind and thought which may be reflected in his future parliamentary career. This understanding was reached by visits to more than a dozen American cities and travels across large areas of American territory. His farewell to America, delivered in the Metropolitan opera house, last night was a masterful effort. It was his greatest speech, and was an appeal for peace.

Babe Ruth Sued.

Boston, Nov. 3.—George H. "Babe" Ruth, home run king of the New York Yankees, has been sued for $2,750 on a note by Isadore Gronstein, Boston attorney. In superior court Judge Hammond entered a default when Ruth failed to appear in answer to summons.

Truck Driver Killed.

Toledo, Nov. 3.—William Glanzman, 17, was killed when he tried to beat an Ohio Electric interurban car across the tracks with his truck, and failed.

SONG STORIES OF THE SAWDUST TRAIL

by
HOMER A. RODEHEAVER
Famous Song Director of the "Billy" Sunday Evangelistic Campaigns

He Will Not Let Me Fall.

Copyright, 1920, by ACKLEY & RODEHEAVER, HOMER A. RODEHEAVER, OWNER.

Rev. A. H. Ackley. B. D. Ackley.

1. My faith temp-ta-tion shall not move, For Je-sus knows it all,
2. When grief is more than I can bear—Too weak am I to call—
3. Some-times I fal-ter, filled with fear, I can-not see at all,

And holds me with His arm of love—He will not let me fall.
If I but lift my heart in pray'r, He will not let me fall.
His voice I nev-er fail to hear—"I will not let thee fall."

CHORUS.
He will not let me fall, He will not let me fall,
He will not let me fall, He will not let me fall.

He is my Strength, my Hope, my all, He will not let me fall.

This is a story told to one of our women workers. During one of our afternoon meetings an unusual spirit of sympathy and inspiration seemed to pervade the audience, and at the close of the service among the scores who took their stand for consecrated lives was a middle-aged, stylishly dressed woman, who was easily identified as one of the best known society ladies of the city.

Her stand was a distinct surprise, and something of a sensation; but it was evidently even more of a surprise to the woman, herself.

It was no spasmodic sentiment seeking a momentary expression.

It was an earnest, genuine vision of God, and it had thrust a sudden white glare into the hidden recesses of her soul, with some surprising results.

"It may seem strange," she said, "but that song, 'He Will Not Let Me Fall,' seemed almost a mirror in which I saw for the first time my real life, and the selfishness and worldliness which I had always managed to hide from myself before.

"For the first time I realized that I had missed the Greatest Friend of All, and that I had done so because in my worldly pride, I thought I hadn't needed Him.

"And so I had allowed myself to drift away into the pursuit of selfish social ambitions until I was at a point where nothing else mattered."

She hesitated.

"My husband died about a year ago, and on his death I found that unfortunate investment had reduced what I had always thought to be an assured fortune to practically nothing.

"In fact, I did not have enough to continue the expenses of our home without running into debt.

"But I could not bring myself to economize because my daughter had just been introduced to society, and I was afraid, if I let our friends know our real financial condition it would injure her socially and, and—so I have kept things going, hoping that my girl would make a rich marriage, which would solve our difficulties.

"A short time ago a man proposed to her, who stands among the wealthiest bachelors of the city, a man who is received into the most exclusive society, but whose personal life I know would not bear investigation.

"There were many ugly stories told of his various affairs and his heartless conduct with different women, but when he asked for my girl as his wife I saw only the fact that his money would restore us to the position which we had always enjoyed and would eliminate all of my troubles.

"So I encourage my daughter to temporize with him, altho I knew she did not love him, and we had about been taken from them by death, furnished another striking example of the message of this song.

The child was one of the brightest and most winsome little ones in the neighborhood.

The little girl was a beautiful creature, with an aureole of golden curls about her merry face and a disposition that earned for her the loving name of "Little Miss Sunshine."

Her parents fairly idolized her, and their devotion was a household word.

One night the mother was awakened by a croupy gurgle from the cot of their loved one.

In less than ten hours, in spite of the best medical aid they could secure they saw their darling snatched from them in a convulsive death struggle.

The day before their home had been the abode of laughter and life and love. Now it was stricken by the shadow of death.

For weeks the young parents literally dragged their sad way about their daily duties, with a grief that was pitiful to see.

It was about this time that we opened a campaign in the community, and in the first days some of the neighbors persuaded the young couple to attend with them.

They came several times.

Neither had been active in Christian work. They had thought of joining a church, but had never done so and the death of their child had turned their half-formed resolution now into a sullen bitterness.

It was not until our campaign was well under way that the Christian friends of the young couple who had been watching eagerly for the first sign that their hearts had been touched, were rewarded.

One night we sang the song "He Will Not Let Me Fall."

When we reached the second verse, those sitting nearest the young husband and wife suddenly saw the latter burst into sobs, and a moment later tears glistened in the eyes of the man at her side.

When the invitation was given they were among the first to take their stand and their faces were streaked with tears.

But no longer were they tears of a hopeless anguish and grief.

There was a light in their moistened eyes like the radiance of a beautiful rainbow showing thru the clouds of a storm.

For the first time they had glimpsed the wonderful promise of that Great Friend, whose love for us is so great and tender and enduring that it buries even those griefs of the flesh which come to us.

They had found the Crucified Jesus—and their dead child had shown them the way to the cross.

AMUSEMENTS

All the dentists in the world never got as many laughs out of pulling a tooth as Harold Lloyd does in "Why Worry?" his latest contribution to the screen, which many will proclaim the best farce they have seen in the silver sheet or on the stage, for that matter.

John Aasen, the eight foot nine giant who plays with Lloyd in this picture is the comedian's tooth pulling victim and there is a laugh in this sequence for every foot of the giant's great body.

You will have to see this episode in "Why Worry?" to appreciate how funny it is, for in the five pre-views of the Lloyd picture on the west coast, audiences were convulsed by it.

It is doubtful if the average human being could stand the severe test to which Aasen was put while losing a troublesome molar, yet it was a minor event for this great bulk of humanity who weighs close to 500 pounds.

This sequence of a high light of "Why Worry?" for it establishes the giant as Lloyd's friend and makes him an important factor in the revolutionary scenes which follow.

"Why Worry?" is Lloyd's biggest production, if not his best. An entire South American town was reconstructed for the picture, and more than a thousand extras were employed in the big battle scenes. It is a Pathe-comedy and will be shown Monday at the Met theater.

Ain't It the Truth?

A man spends a life time in an earnest attempt to acquire knowledge. About the only thing he learns to a certainty is that if he wishes to be shaved on Saturday it is better to go to the barber shop in the forenoon. Everything else is disputed by somebody.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

HARTMAN THEATER

Charles "Chic" Sale, typically American as corn on the cob or rhubarb pie, as his admirers aver, is to be seen at the Hartman three days beginning Monday, November 5, in Herbert Hall Winslow's new American comedy drama, "Common Sense." Mr. Sale has been a familiar figure on Columbus stages in the past, but this is the first time he has made a visit at the head of him own company. "Common Sense" is described by its author as a humorous satire on blue laws and a timely warning against their insidious effects. Painstakingly, Winslow has gathered facts about the efforts of fanatics to curtail liberty of thought, speech and action and his completed picture is no wise overdrawn or exaggerated. With the play American thru and thru, "Chic" Sale is the artist who can act it "real American."

Vaudeville has already acclaimed him as great and now he is reaping new laurels as a straight comedian. His excellent supporting company includes Betty Weston, Lillian Ross, Florence Earle, Geneva Harrison, Virginia Sale, Claude Kimball, Harry English, John Keefe, Milton Nobles Jr. Charles Honnell and others. Mail orders should be sent now. There will be a matinee Wednesday.

"Good Morning Dearie" famous musical comedy, comes to the Hartman for a three day stay beginning Thursday night, November 8. Jerome Kern, who wrote the music for "Good Morning Dearie" also wrote the music for Ziegfeld's "Sally" and Edward Royce who staged it, did a like service for "Sally" and the Ziegfeld "Follies." Anna Caldwell, who wrote the book and lyrics is well known as the author of "China Chin" and all the Fred Stone shows. She has taken a story with the thrills of melodrama and made it the basis for a comedy with music that possesses surprise, fun, excitement and novelty. The big cast includes Virginia Watson, Gwendolyn Roland, Mary Diehl, Kitty Clark, Lou Powers, Roland Hogue, Edward Allen Abbott Adams, the twelve Sunbeam girls, the sensational dancers from London and a chorus of beauties and dancing boys. There will be a matinee on Saturday. Mail orders now.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO
ARTICLE II SECTION 35
PROPOSING TO AMEND SECTION 35 OF ARTICLE II OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF OHIO RELATIVE TO WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION.
Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the state of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each House concurring therein:
That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner provided by law, at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1924, a proposal to amend section 35 of article II of the constitution of the state of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE II.
Sec. 35. For the purpose of providing compensation to workmen and their dependents, for death, injuries or occupational disease, occasioned in the course of such workmen's employment, laws may be passed establishing a state fund to be created by compulsory contribution thereto by employers, and administered by the state, determining the terms and conditions upon which payment shall be made therefrom. Such compensation shall be in lieu of all other rights to compensation, or damages, for such death, injuries, or occupational disease, and any employer who pays the premium for such compensation shall be liable to respond in damages at common law or by statute for such death, injuries or occupational disease. Laws may be passed establishing a board which may be empowered to classify all occupations, according to their degree of hazard, to fix rates of contribution to such fund according to such classification and to collect, administer and distribute such fund, and to determine all rights of claimants therefrom. Such board shall set aside as a separate fund such proportion of the contributions paid by employers as in its judgment may be necessary, not to exceed one per centum thereof in any year, and so as to equalize, insofar as possible, the burden thereon to be expended by such board in such manner as may be provided by law for the investigation and prevention of industrial accidents and diseases. Such board shall have full power, whether or not an injury, disease or death resulted because of the failure of the employer to comply with any specific requirement for the protection of lives, health and safety of employees, enacted by the General Assembly or in the form of an order adopted by such board, and its decision shall be final; and for the purpose of such investigation and inquiries it may appoint referees. When it is found, upon hearing, that an injury, disease or death resulted because of such failure by the employer, such amount shall be paid to be just, not greater than fifty nor less than fifteen per centum of the maximum award established by law, shall be added by the board, to the amount of the compensation that may be awarded on account of such injury, disease, or death, and paid in like manner as other awards; and, if such compensation is paid from the state fund, the premium for such compensation shall be increased in such amount, covering such period of time as may be fixed, as will recoup the state fund in the amount of such additional award notwithstanding any and all other provisions in this constitution.

SCHEDULE: If a majority of the electors voting on said amendment shall be ascertained, according to law, to have voted in favor thereof, the same shall take effect on the first day of January, 1924, and said original section 35 of article II of the constitution of Ohio shall thereupon be repealed.

Providing compensation for all accidents and diseases arising out of employment, providing additional compensation for employees where accident or disease results from failure to comply with specific requirements for the protection of lives, health and safety of employees, providing a fund for the investigation and prevention of industrial accidents and diseases; YES.

And be it further resolved, That the required publication of said amendment shall be made, and the form of the ballot to be used thereon, shall be submitted to the electors, who shall be prepared by the secretary of state in conformity with law and the foregoing provisions.

ARTICLE II. SECTION 1g
PROPOSING TO AMEND ARTICLE II, SECTION 1g, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF OHIO, RELATIVE TO PUBLICATION OF NOTICE OF PROPOSED LAW OR CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TOGETHER WITH ARGUMENTS FOR AND AGAINST.
Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each House concurring therein:
That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state for their approval or rejection, at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1923, a proposal to amend article II, section 1g, of the constitution of the state of Ohio to read as follows:

Sec. 1g. Any initiative, supplementary or referendum petition may be presented in separate parts but each part shall contain a full and correct copy of the title, and text of the law, section or item thereof sought to be adopted, or the text of the proposed amendment to the constitution. Each signer of any initiative, supplementary or referendum petition must be an elector of the state and shall place on such petition after his name the date of signing and his place of residence. A signer residing outside of a municipality shall state the township and county in which he resides. A resident of a municipality shall state in addition to the name of such municipality, the street number, if any, of his residence and the ward and precinct in which the same is located.

Such petitions shall be written in ink, each signer for himself. To each part of such petition shall be attached the affidavit of the person soliciting the signatures that he is the same, which affidavit shall contain a statement of the number of the signers of such part of such petition and shall state that each of the signatures attached to such part was made in the presence of the affiant, that to the best of his knowledge and belief each signature on such part is the genuine signature of the person whose name it purports to be, that he believes the persons who he signed it to be electors of the state, so signed said petition with knowledge of the contents thereof, that each signer signed the same on the date stated opposite his name; and that he is not a signer of any other petition. The petition and signatures upon such petitions, so verified, shall be presumed to be in all respects sufficient, unless not later than forty days before the election, it shall be otherwise proved and in such event ten additional days shall be allowed for the filing of additional signatures to such petition. No law or amendment to the constitution submitted to the electors by initiative or supplementary petition and receiving an affirmative majority of the votes cast thereon, shall be held unconstitutional or void on account of the insufficiency of the petitions by which such submission of any law submitted by initiative or referendum be held invalid for such insufficiency. Upon initiative, supplementary and referendum petitions provided for in any of the sections of the constitution of the state of Ohio, to be submitted to the electors of the state, from each of one-half of the counties of the state, petitions bearing the signatures of not less than one-half of the designated percentage of the electors of such county, a true copy of all laws or proposed laws or proposed amendments to the constitution, together with argument or explanation, or both, for and against the same, shall be prepared. The person or persons who prepare the argument or explanation, or both, against any law, section or item, submitted to the electors by referendum petition, may be named in such petition and the persons who prepare the argument or explanation, or both, for any proposed law or proposed amendment to the constitution, may be named in the petition proposing the same. The person or persons who prepare the argument or explanation, or both, for the law, section or item, submitted to the electors by referendum petition, or against any proposed law submitted by supplementary petition, shall be named by the general assembly, if in session, and if further session then by the governor. The secretary of state shall either (a) cause to be printed the law, or proposed law, or proposed amendment to the constitution, together with the arguments and explanations for and against the same, as far as reasonably possible, or (b) cause to be prepared such law, or proposed law, or proposed amendment to the constitution, together with the arguments and explanations, not exceeding a total of three hundred words against each, and shall mail, or otherwise distribute, a copy of such law, or proposed law, or proposed amendment to the constitution, together with such arguments and explanations, to each elector of the state, as far as reasonably possible, or (c) cause to be prepared such law, or proposed law, or proposed amendment to the constitution, together with the arguments and explanations, not exceeding a total of three hundred words against each, and cause the same to be published in one or more newspapers in each county of the state once each week, for not more than three consecutive weeks, the last publication thereof to be not less than ten days prior to the day of election.

Be it further resolved, That such election as above referred to in this proposal shall be placed on the official ballot in the manner provided by law in such form as the secretary of state may designate.

If the votes for the proposal shall exceed those against it, this amendment shall take effect on the first day of January, 1924, and original section 1g of article II of the constitution of the state of Ohio shall be repealed and annulled.

Sabloid Tax Talks

HOME RULE IN TAXATION.
By ROBERT A. TAFT, Cincinnati.

FOR many years we have heard the popular cry for home rule in taxation. Every two years we have witnessed an assault of local communities on the legislature "for relief." The difficulty is that our tax rates are practically fixed at Columbus without reference to local conditions in any county. Originally there was some elasticity in the Smith law, but the countless amendments and exceptions have practically supplied a set of arbitrary rules which must be followed in every county.
The evil of this system is clear when we consider that the urban county in Ohio has practically a different kind of government from that of the rural county, yet under the present jumble of laws the same tax limit and the same rules apply.
The result is that in the rural districts, and where special conditions exist, as in Findlay, where the Standard Oil company pays nearly half the taxes, taxes may often be too high, whereas in other cases the allowance is admittedly not half enough to operate the government. The present law does not even confer the power of voting extra levies outside of the 15 mill limit, except 3 mills for school purposes. But even if power to vote extra levies is given, this is not necessarily home rule in taxation.
Complete home rule would permit each county to adopt its entire system of limits fitted to its own needs. This is perhaps not possible today, but the Taft law gives as wide home rule as can be given under the present constitution.
The Taft law gives the budget commission at least 5 mills within the limit, which it may distribute at its discretion in accordance with the particular needs of each county. Most of this in the rural counties will go to the county. In the urban counties it will be divided between the city and the schools. After a careful investigation and based on the particular facts developed in each county, the budget commission, within reasonable limitations, will have power to determine the tax distribution. The people are given power to vote any amount which may be necessary for any purpose. The Taft law thus confers substantial home rule in taxation.

Sabloid Tax Talks

THE TAFT AND SMITH LAWS-I.
By H. H. GRISWOLD, Attorney General's Office.

THE Taft law recognizes the fundamental principles of the Smith law, namely, tax limitation. It corrects two fundamental mistakes of the Smith law, the first of which is discussed here.
The limits provided by the Smith law were fixed at a figure so low that government could not be carried on within them during the period of increasing prices between 1910 and 1920. It provided no means of adjustment to changed conditions. This had two results:
In the first place, the legislature was called upon to make exception to the law to cover actual needs. One exception called for another, and today we have as many levies outside of the limits as are inside. The system is so complex that the ordinary citizen can not understand it. In legislating for communities that had to have more money, the limits for communities that did not, were often raised.
Secondly, the Smith law placed a premium on borrowing for current expenses and issuing long time bonds. Municipal indebtedness rose from $188,000,000 in 1912 to $679,000,000 in 1922, and much of it represented borrowing for current expenses. The people demand that government and the schools shall function. Officials who could not secure funds from tax levies secured them by borrowing. The more they borrowed, the larger part of the 15 mills was required to provide for repayment; the more was left for current expenses and the greater incentive to additional bonds, and so the process went in a circle.
The Taft law corrects these defects. It establishes limits shown by 10 years' experience to be reasonable for economical government. It provides for a real and effective budget commission which can cut levies below the limits where conditions justify. It provides means by which the people can raise the limits if conditions demand it. It is not necessary to raise the limit for the whole state to relieve one city under the Taft law. By placing outside of the limit levies for bonds hereafter issued, the premium on long time bonds is removed. Borrowing for current expenses is forbidden. The result is a pay-as-you-go system.

REPUBLICAN TICKET

For Mayor
H. C. RENICK
For Auditor
N. R. HUSTON
For Treasurer
CLARK WILL
For Councilman-at-Large
B. T. HEDGES

THE ELECTION.

Next Tuesday is election day and the voters seem to be apathetic and unconcerned about the final outcome.

The Republicans of the city present their ticket, not a long one, but of splendid quality.

For mayor Henry C. Renick is a candidate for reelection on his record of the last two years. He has made good in his first term and should be given a vote of confidence on next Tuesday.

Nelson R. Huston, for city auditor is the present service director, is well known to everybody, and would make a faithful, efficient city auditor who would always have the interest of the city at heart.

Clark Will, assistant cashier of the Third National bank, is the candidate for city treasurer. He is in every way qualified for this position of trust and is a young man of excellent character and is deserving.

For councilman-at-large B. T. Hedges is a candidate for reelection. He has shown in his first term that he understands the duties of the office and his sole desire is to advance the interests of Circleville. Our lawmaking body is composed of seven members and the name of Mr. Hedges is the only one proposed by the Republicans. The minority should be represented in the city council.

For members of the board of education on the non-partisan ballot are the names of Charles H. May, Dr. D. V. Courtright, Robert G. Colville and F. E. Barnhill. The first two are present members of the board.

The constitutional amendments and laws proposed to be voted on are: Workmen's compensation.

Taft law.
Albaugh law
Elective franchise.
Publication of proposed legislation in newspapers.
Old age pensions.

Our own opinion is that the best interests of the state are served by voting "yes" on the first five proposals and "no" on the last.

Young Schaeffer Wins His Third Game of Billiard Tourney.

New York, Nov. 3.—Young Jake Schaeffer, son of the "old wizard," Jake, preserved a clean slate in the world's 18.2 ballline billiards championship tourney by overwhelming Erich Hagenlacher, the German champion, 500 to 173. Schaeffer has won three games and lost none. He still has to meet two of the greatest of cue wizards, Champion Willie Hoppe and Welker Cochran, who have each won two and lost one engagement. Edouard Horemans, the champion of Belgium, defeated Roger Conti, the French champion, 500 to 475 points. It was Horemans' first victory in three engagements and Conti's fourth defeat in as many matches.

LIVE QUESTION

Noted Speaker to be Here Thursday Night at M. E. Church.

The growing popular tendency to face the question of American participation in the League of Nations as a great moral issue, rather than a partisan political plaything, is evidenced in the "Conference on International Relations" being held here Tuesday afternoon and evening under direction of the City Council of Churches.

Together on the platform at this meeting, Columbus will hear a Republican political manager and a great international religious leader, urging full assumption of responsibility by the United States in the task of bringing peace to a war torn world.

Everett Colby, former Republican national committeeman, placing national duty above partisan expedience is outspoken in his appeals for American membership in the League. With him is Sherwood Eddy, perhaps better informed than any other American regarding the present day trend of political and religious thought thruout the world.

These men are presenting their views for the consideration of the Christian people of Columbus at the conference. Their visit there constituted a challenge to every man and woman to give a frank answer to the question "can America do her full duty as a godly nation without actively supporting the most promising movement yet launched in the direction of world peace?"—Columbus Citizen, October 23, 1923.

MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETS.

The Pickaway County Medical society held its monthly session Friday evening. The members of the society first attended a banquet at the Boggs and later adjourned to the Monday club room at the Memorial hall where they listened to an address by Dr. N. J. Gordon, of Columbus, on Cardiac-vascular Diseases. The address was well received and was later discussed by the members.

Hotel Stenographer

BY ROE FULKERSON

"Kelly," said the Hotel Stenographer "if we had good roads every where, like we ought to, I would be an engaged woman this day."

"Tell me some more," encouraged the House Detective.

"Do you remember that fellow I thought I had lost, because I ate the potato salad with onions in it, so I couldn't go to the movie with him?"

"I am not certain," replied the House Detective.

"Well, anyhow," said the girl, "Saturday he made my heart hop, like a frog in a milk can, by asking me to go riding Sunday. I put on all I had in the way of clothes, and we went out into the country. He showed me the oyster plants growing and the young cows and pigs and talked about how nice the country was, so I know he has the little farm complex."

"Right there I told him that my idea of a nice dress was a gingham bungalow apron, and that all my life I had wanted to go out into the Magnus Johnson life and be a farm girl and carry the calves, and cook, and every thing, and, Kelly, he fell for it, like a fat man stepping on a banana."

"Then he told me how surprised he was to find a city bred girl, who danced, and was good looking, who cared for things like that. His idea of being happy was to find some nice girl and be a bungalowifer all his life."

"Just as he was about to say some more words, which I had the earache listening for, Kelly, his car hit a couple of 'thank ye ma'ams' in the highway; my hat fell off; he twisted the wheel, and began to say things about country roads that drove me as far out of his mind as a pigeon could fly in a week."

CAMERA FAST AS LIGHTNING

Machines Invented in United States and England Capable of Making 5,000 Exposures a Second.

The invention in the United States and England of two revolutionary types of "slow motion" moving picture cameras, capable respectively of making 3,200 and 5,000 exposures a second, which permit the photographing in elaborate detail of such actions as the bursting of a shell against armor plate, is announced.

Under the eye of the super-high-speed camera a rubber ball dropped to the ground is shown to be flattened almost into a hemisphere at the moment of impact, a circumstance which, by showing resiliency in detail, is of scientific value to tire manufacturers in deciding on the design and construction of their products. Other secrets of rapid mechanical action disclosed by the cameras are expected to lead to industrial and scientific improvements.

The smashing of a glass vacuum bulb by a hammer, an action which occupies something less than 1-100 of a second, is shown by these cameras in about fifty pictures—more than three feet of film—which at normal projecting speed would be run off on the screen in between three and four seconds. This enables scientific study to be made of each stage of a process that the fastest cameras hitherto devised have pictured as instantaneous.

The American machine was developed by C. Francis Jenkins of Washington. The British camera is known as the Heape-Gryll rapid cinema machine. They are large contrivances (weight of the English machine is four tons) operated by electric motors, and are started and stopped mechanically, since the human hand is too slow to operate the switch at the precise instant of the action to be photographed. Giant searchlights and chemical flashes are employed to furnish light, since photographic film is incapable of producing images under such short exposures as is given in these cameras—often less than 1-100,000 of a second.—Popular Science Monthly.

CIRCLEVILLE,

OHIO.

A STATEMENT TO THE PEOPLE OF CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO.

To begin with, I fully recognize the fact that no person can fill the office of mayor to the entire satisfaction of all, or nearly all, the people. My idea has been to do the thing that would benefit the greatest number. I have had this in my mind when signing or vetoing ordinances passed by the city council. I have always tried my utmost to be fair and impartial in all cases tried in my court and am sure I cannot be accused of favoritism in a single case.

In 22 months of my term I have assessed $8,015.71 in fines and costs in liquor cases alone. In the same number of months just prior to my administration there was $3,129.95 assessed under same charges and the improvement in this condition is plainly visible.

In filling office by appointment I have selected the best people in my judgment for the various places namely: Mr. Huston for service director; Mr. Lyle, safety director; Mr. Ruggles, Mr. Adkins and Mr. Howard for sinking fund trustees; Mr. Folsom Mrs. Henry and Miss Moody for library board; Mrs. Gussman and Mr. Colwell for board of health; Mr. Foresman for civil service board and Mr. Caldwell, president of council. All of these are competent and trustworthy persons who take an active interest in city affairs.

H. C. RENICK, Mayor.

NOW IS TIME TO HELP.

Now that the Hinde Paper Box company has selected the site for their new Container Plant there is no longer any reason for our people withholding their support from the project. Fibre containers are used here in very large quantities. The city is badly in need of steady employment for its people. Let everyone subscribe as they can afford and help get the good work started.

OLD HOMESTEAD FOR SALE.

The undersigned, as trustee and representative of the children and heirs at law of the late Christena Adkins, will offer for sale at public auction at the front door of the court house in the city of Circleville, Ohio,

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1923, at 2 o'clock P. M., the homestead of the late Christena Adkins, located in Wayne township, Pickaway County, Ohio, on the Circleville and Washington Turnpike (improved as State Highway No. 10.) and containing 89 acres of land, more or less.

This is one of the most valuable farms in Pickaway county, rich land, thoroly tilled, silo, 2 barns, excellent farm scales under roof, chicken house, smoke and wash house and a nine room house that is practically new. This house is as near modern as a country home can be made with Delco lighting system practically new and in good condition.

The wheat is not yet sown but expect to sow it. If sown, the heirs will turn over to the purchaser one-half of the wheat sown on said lands. If purchaser desires to buy the tenant's one-half he has the privilege of doing so by paying for sowing the same. The heirs will pay the December, 1923 tax but all taxes thereafter shall be paid by the purchaser. Possession will be given to do anything on the premises that will not interfere with rights of tenant now in possession and full possession will be given March 1, 1924.

The purchaser or purchasers will be required to pay one thousand dollars on day of sale as good faith money, and the balance of purchase price within thirty days from day of sale in cash. A contract of sale will be entered into with purchaser on day of sale and when terms of sale are complied with a warranty deed for the premises, free and clear from all incumbrances will be handed purchaser, except the June tax, 1924.

If you desire an ideal home on an ideal road and very near good markets you will be interested in this sale. Come and look at it. This is a forced sale to distribute the estate of the deceased.

LYCEUM THEATER

In the announcement of the continuous presentation of "Abie's Irish Rose" at the Lyceum theater for a third week, beginning Sunday matinee November 4, Columbus records for a consecutive run of the same play are broken. Capacity audiences is the general rule here as in all cities in which Anne Nichols' sensationally successful comedy is presented, with a heavy advance sale indicating the increasing popularity of "Abie."

The splendid cast of players here, a combination of the late Pittsburgh organization and a few members of the present New York company loaned for Columbus engagement have got together in their best stride and are giving a performance of perfect team work. Already the box office ticket sellers are reporting return visits of many patrons who have seen "Abie's Irish Rose" more than once. This is a usual feature in the engagements of this play, for its action is so rapid, the dialogue so scintillating and the situations so complicated, that a second or third visit is enjoyed more than the first one. Under all the surface of roaring laugh provoking scenes there are touches of pathos to relieve the strain of continuous laughter and a moral contained in its concrete illustration that a broad spirit of tolerance and love will reconcile age old antagonisms. In this play, Abie, a Jewish youth, marries Rosemary Murphy, an Irish Catholic girl, and at once lets loose the warring characteristics contained in the natures of the widely differing viewpoints of their respective fathers. That Abie and Rosie marry three times, the ceremonies being performed by a Methodist minister, a Rabbi and a priest, in a vain effort to please their fathers, affords a series of situations better imagined than described. This theme as is the case with the entire play is of course treated from a screamingly funny, humorous angle without offense to the most sensitive. Matinee performances are given Sunday, Wednesday and Saturday.

How to Keep Rubber Soft.
A prominent tire manufacturer says that an excellent way to prevent hardening of inner tubes when they are stored for the winter is to place them in hot water once a month or every six weeks. They should be immersed for just a couple of minutes, and should then be carefully dried and partly inflated before being hung up again. This treatment serves to keep the rubber pliable and soft.

TO FILE SUIT

Mrs. Barbara Short Will Ask $168,500
for Husband's Accidental Death.

Mrs. Barbara Short, executrix and widow of the late Cary T. Short will in a few days file a civil action in common pleas court to recover $168,500 on accident insurance policies carried by her husband. Seven companies are involved in the impending litigation, thru failure to make payments following his death.

The companies had sixty days in which to pay and so far they have refused and the time limit will expire in a few days.

Following the two post mortems and the verdict rendered by the coroner, the companies declined to pay contending that Mr. Short was a victim of heart failure and that the death was not an accident.

Mr. Short was probably the largest carrier of accident insurance policies in this state and the outcome of the case will be awaited with much interest.

The seven companies that carried accident policies on the life of Mr. Short were as follows:

The Continental Casualty company of Chicago, Illinois, death $30,000, indemnity, $100 a week.

Travelers, of Hartford, Connecticut, death, $7,500, indemnity $25 a week.

Pacific Mutual, of Los Angeles, California, death $15,000, indemnity $50 a week.

Globe Indemnity company, of Newark, New Jersey, death $7,500; indemnity $25 a week.

The above named policies were placed by S. G. Rader, of this city, and Cess & West of Columbus.

Aetna, of Hartford, Connecticut, death only, $50,000.

American Casualty company of Reading, Pennsylvania, death $7,500, indemnity $25 a week. This policy was written by A. Hulse Hays, of this city.

Connecticut General Life of Hartford, Connecticut, $50,000 death only, written by Henry Ebersole, of Ashville.

Ten years ago Mr. Short was written by the Equitable Life, of Des Moines, Iowa, for a ten year term on a policy of $10,000. This policy expired April 19, of this year.

Following the expiration of this last named policy and unable to secure straight life policies owing to the fact of not being able to pass a rigid medical examination the deceased invested in accident insurance for protection.

Vote for H. C. Renick for mayor.

Might Not Suit Jefferson.

A London editor says of Mount Vernon:

"Here can be seen and visualized the life of an English gentleman in America in the Eighteenth century."

And then, applauding the effort to make Monticello a national possession, the editor adds:

"If a similar atmosphere can be introduced into Monticello as a memorial to Thomas Jefferson the committee will deserve the thanks of all lovers of democracy."

But not the thanks of T. J. himself, remarks Girard. To be regarded as an "English gentleman in America" would tickle him just as much as it would please Mr. Bryan to be labeled agent for John Barleycorn or Senator Brookhart to be called the right bower of Henry Cabot Lodge.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

HUNT SNAKE WORSHIPER AS ZOO THEFT SUSPECT

East Indian Who Bowd Before
Cobras Sought in Gotham.

New York.—A tall, bearded East Indian serpent worshiper is sought by the police as the burglar who attempted to steal some of the deadliest reptiles in the world from the Bronx zoo.

Detectives received a detailed description of a dark-skinned frequenter of the zoo who has been observed repeatedly to bow with reverence before the king cobras, believed by an East Indian sect to be tenanted by the souls of princes. Two policemen were assigned as bodyguard to the cobras.

The suspected devotee has been seen slowly and gravely inclining his head to the king cobra sometimes for fully five minutes.

"This man has been seen at worship so often," said Mr. Dittmars, "that the keepers usually move off when they see him approach and take some position from which they can observe him without being noticed."

"This particular man has the dark eyes, hair and beard of a Hindu, but wears ordinary clothes. He is slender and tall. He comes in frequently. He always takes a great interest in the hooded cobras, the yellow ones and others, but he reserves his adoration for the king cobra. I have made an investigation and find that the belief of one sect of serpent worshippers is that the king cobra is inhabited by the soul of a prince, while the humbler cobras contain the souls of common men. All kinds are treated with respect, but the obeisance is made only to the king cobra, regarded as a superior."

"It appears extremely likely to me that this man is the perpetrator of this attempted burglary, to me the most mysterious and fascinating crime on record."

"The man I mention seems to be the leader of the serpent worshippers, but there are others of his race who come here and are simply absorbed in gazing at the cobras."

"A few white men have also shown an abnormal interest in the king cobras, and a recent investigation we have made indicates that there are a great many more reptile worshippers in this part of the world than anyone seems to have suspected."

There are nearly 200,000 serpent worshippers in India, according to the estimate of W. Crooks, author of "The Religion and Folk-Lore of Northern India." He computed the votaries of the snake-god Guga at 123,000. Twenty-five thousand others worshiped Naga, another snake-god, and more than 30,000 adored lesser snake deities.

Worship of the cobra is ancient. The Egyptian Goddess Osiris took the form of the cobra. The figures of Tut-Ankh-Amen that were found in his tomb, for instance, had golden cobras coiled on the hat as symbols that he was under the protection of Osiris.

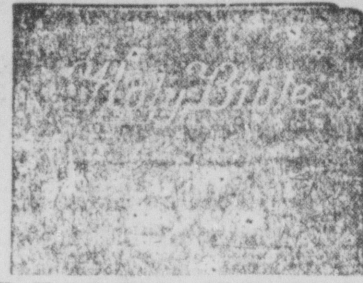

18-Year-Old Farm Girl 99.9 Per Cent Perfect

To be judged 99.9 per cent perfect in an interstate health contest and to be chosen to represent Iowa in the National Health contest to be held at the International Live Stock exposition in Chicago the first week in December are the honors awarded Frances Baustian, an eighteen-year-old farm girl from Eldridge, Iowa. Frances was a member of the champion home economics demonstration team at the Iowa State fair and went with this team to the Interstate fair at Sioux City where it again won highest honors among the home economics project teams. While at Sioux City she was selected from among the Iowa delegation to represent that state in the health contest which was staged among contestants from nine different states. The health experts gave her a score of 99.9, which is probably the nearest to perfection that any member of the boys' or girls' clubs has been awarded.

DICTATORSHIP LEGALLY FALLS

Socialists Withdraw Members
From German Cabinet.

DEMANDS FLATLY REJECTED

Chancellor Stresemann Assailed From All Sides, but Declares He Will Continue to Govern Dictatorially For the Present—Political and Economic Crisis in Germany Admitted to Be Acute—Late Developments.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—Germany's first attempt at government by constitutional or parliamentary dictatorship legally fell after lasting 19 days.

Dictator Stresemann rejected the Socialist demands that he raise the military state of siege throughout the country and withdraw the troops from Saxony. Thereupon the Socialist party withdrew its three members from the Stresemann cabinet—Minister of the Interior Hollman, Vice Chancellor Schmidt and Minister of Justice Radbrich.

With that action the law investing the Stresemann cabinet with extraordinary dictatorial powers came automatically to an end. The law specifically provided that it would remain in force only as long as the present coalition government held together.

Whether the Stresemann dictatorship falls in fact as well as ending legally is dependent largely on whether Stresemann submits to parliament again or openly flouts it by refusing to recognize the law.

The chancellor said he would continue to govern dictatorially under paragraph 48 of the constitution, possibly creating a dictatorship of himself, Minister of the Reichswehr Gessler and Minister of Labor Brauns. Other reports are that he will try to replace the Socialists with Nationalists and go before the reichstag next week with a rebuilt cabinet.

Stresemann is now drawn into the vortex of a political whirlpool, which threatens to engulf him. The entire left, from the Socialists to the Communists, are against him because he used the army to put down the Bolshevik revolt in Saxony. The right, that is, the Nationalists, are against him because he had Socialists in the cabinet and they consider him compromised.

Hugo Stinnes asserted industrialists have opened an offensive against Stresemann, that he must go, in order to clear the path for an out and out right, or Nationalist, cabinet, or dictatorship.

Stresemann expressed the view that Germany is so "volcanic" and that the political and economic crisis is so acute that it would be sheer folly to leave the country without a government for the few days that would be required to get a new cabinet together. Therefore he has decided to remain. He exchanged views with President Ebert over the telephone, and the president approved of his stand.

SEPARATISTS REPULSED

Attack Aix-la-Chapelle City Hall, but Are Driven Back.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—A massed attack of 800 shock troops of the Rhenish separatists on the city hall at Aix-la-Chapelle was driven back by the local forces. In a pitched battle with the green police and the fire fighting force, the separatists were defeated and driven out of town. This attack is considered the first of an offensive on a large scale planned by the separatists.

The leader of the Rhenish separatists, Matthes, is reported to have organized flying battalions for the purpose of invading towns and cities in the Rhineland, driving out the German officials and taking possession.

In Aix-la-Chapelle the separatists advanced with guns, bombs and battering rams. The defenders of the city hall met them with streams of water, whereupon the separatists cut off the water supply.

Corn Liquor Confiscated.

Stuebenville, O., Nov. 3.—A shipment of 112 gallons of corn liquor, alleged to have been brought here to be used for campaign purposes in connection with next Tuesday's election, was confiscated by Enforcement Officer John Cole. Tom Maiti was arrested, charged with transporting the liquor here.

SPEED RECORD SMASHED

Aviator Williams of the Navy Flies at Rate of 258 miles an Hour.

New York, Nov. 3.—A world's record for human flight stood as the record for just one hour, being surpassed by a new mark almost before the report of the flight had been typed.

Lieutenant A. J. Williams, flying a Curtiss navy racer, Mitchell field, plunged through space at the unprecedented average speed of 258 3/4 miles an hour. His blinding flight was made while the officers of the field were still congratulating Lieutenant Harold W. Brow on his great spurt that made him world champion with a speed of 257 1/4 miles an hour. Brow also used a Curtiss navy plane.

However, Williams failed to equal the mark of 263 miles an hour that Brow set on one lap of his flight, a leg down the wind. Williams' performances were: First lap, against wind, 259 miles; second lap, with wind, 260 miles; third lap, against wind, 256 miles, and fourth lap, with wind, 259 miles.

Former Crown Prince to Return.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—After five years of exile, the former Crown Prince Wilhelm has been given formal permission to return to Germany. The German foreign office has instructed the German consulate at Amsterdam to issue a passport and visa to the former heir to the imperial throne upon demand of the exile. Even the Socialist members in the cabinet, who consider Wilhelm's presence in Germany as a possible danger to the republic, did not oppose his return. Chancellor Stresemann himself argued that if the Bavarian crown prince and the ex-king of Saxony could live in Germany, as they do, without causing trouble or endangering the republic, there is no good reason why young Wilhelm should be kept out any longer.

FOOD PRICES SOARING

Gold Notes Give Final Death Stab to the Paper Mark.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—One sour pickle costs four billion German marks. That illustrates the abyss into which German currency has fallen. All idea of any value in paper marks has disappeared. Officially the exchange rate for the mark has been set at 320,000,000,000 to the dollar. Strangely the new gold value currency of the government gave the final death stab to the paper mark, and sent it below any mark ever set by any currency which still remained in use.

Because the gold value currency has a stable value people offer any price in paper marks to get it. Then the gold value notes are hoarded like gold itself. The result is that the gold notes continue to exceed even dollar notes in paper mark price and disappear from circulation as soon as issued. Prices of food continue to skyrocket, doing a dizzy, pyramiding dance as prices are "jazzed up" almost every half hour.

Merchandise Hauled Away.

Youngstown, O., Nov. 3.—Furs and other merchandise valued at more than $30,000 were stolen from the Charles Livingston & Sons company's department store by thieves, who gained entrance through a trapdoor in the roof. An auto was backed up to the rear of the place and the merchandise hauled away.

Five bandits, armed with rifles, robbed the First National bank of Boker-ton, 30 miles from Johnstown, Pa., and escaped with $2,000, after wounding one man and stealing three automobiles.

PROSECUTIONS IMMINENT

Coolidge and Cabinet Review
Charges of Graft.

VIGOROUS ACTION PROMISED

Department of Justice Going Over Allegations of Fraud in the Veterans' Bureau and Conducting an Independent Inquiry—Prosecutions Both Civil and Criminal to Be Instituted by the Government.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Charges of graft and fraud in the veterans' bureau, now being aired before a senate committee, were reviewed in full for the first time by President Coolidge and his cabinet.

It was decided, it is learned, to put every facility and energy of the government back of prosecutions seeking to convict any person guilty of misusing funds intended for the relief of disabled soldiers. The prosecutions will be both civil and criminal, the first to recover all "graft" possible, and in the second instance to put persons flagrantly guilty in jail.

The department of justice will immediately take over the work of securing evidence and preparing for indictments. If necessary, it will establish a division as comprehensive as the one which is now devoting its energies exclusively to the task of prosecuting persons guilty of defrauding the government on contracts during the war.

Just prior to meeting with his cabinet the president held a long conference with Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, who is directing the inquiry. The senator is understood to have gone over with President Coolidge the evidence already produced of alleged graft in the building of hospitals and disposal of supplies, as well as evidence yet to be brought out.

The opinion of Senator Reed was asked on the gravity of the charges and if the inquiry presented a situation as serious as indicated. He is said to have told the president that the charges are such that they should be taken up at once by the legal department of the government and indictments asked as early as possible.

Attorney General Daugherty was able to tell the cabinet that the department of justice already is actually at work on an inquiry and is receiving from the senate committee such assistance and co-operation as it is possible to obtain.

JOHNSON KNOCKED OUT IN FIFTEENTH ROUND

Exhibits Gameness in His Bout With Jack Renault.

New York, Nov. 3.—Floyd Johnson fell as limp as the towel his manager, Charley Cook, tossed into the ring in the last minute of a bloody 15-round fight with Jack Renault of Canada, at Madison Square Garden last night.

Thirty-one seconds remained of the round when Renault clipped the game young fellow from Iowa under the chin with a right uppercut. Johnson, his face cut and bleeding from a continued slashing from Renault's left, staggered. Renault sprang at him and let fly another uppercut, which knocked Johnson over. The man, who is well named "the Iowa Bulldog," got to his knees from blind instinct more than anything else, his gloves trailing in the rosin dust. Then he staggered to his feet and reeled around unable to put his hands up. Renault punched him with another right uppercut, but almost as he drew back for the blow Cook threw the towel in. The referee did not see the rag. The punch landed. Johnson, whose chin was cut from a succession of uppercuts earlier in the fight, went down again as Cook and his second rushed into the ring.

It took Cook nearly 10 minutes to revive Johnson as the Iowa star limply on his stool in his corner after the fight, and not one of the 10,000 men and women left the building until they saw Johnson on his feet. Then they gave a big cheer for the amazing courage he had displayed in coming on and on round after round under a fierce bombardment of punches, and always trying to make a fight of it.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Three Fatalities.

Youngstown, O., Nov. 3.—Charles Sechler, 29, a night operator for the Pennsylvania railroad, was fatally injured when he was struck by an auto while on his way to work. Emmanuel J. Burke, an expressman, died of injuries received when he was crushed by a heavy drum of telephone cable, which fell on him in a freight house. Felix Wolle, 4, was run over by a heavy truck and killed.

Liberty Bonds Stolen.

Findlay, O., Nov. 3.—The home of T. F. Litzberger here was burglarized and $8,000 worth of liberty bonds stolen from the hiding place in the dining room. Mr. and Mrs. Litzberger, who are over 70 years of age, had invested their life savings in the bonds. About $8,500 worth of registered bonds hidden in the same place were not touched.

Widow to File Suit.

Circleville, O., Nov. 3.—Mrs. Cary T. Short, widow of the late horseman, will file suit soon to recover $168,500 in accident insurance policies. Companies refused payment in Short's death, claiming he died of heart failure. Short was found dead in a wrecked automobile. Medical experts have been called into the case to determine the cause of death.

Padlock Law Invoked.

Columbus, Nov. 3.—First use of the recently enacted "padlock law" in Franklin county was made when Prosecutor King closed Grey Manor Inn, a roadhouse south of the city. The injunction closes the place until further order of the court and until the question of the sale of intoxicating liquor to its patrons has been threshed out on the merits of the case.

Mile-Long Coal Bin.

Zanesville, O., Nov. 3.—A concrete submarine coal bin, 30 feet deep and a mile and a quarter long, with a capacity of 400,000 tons of coal, will be a part of the new Ohio Power company's generating plant, under construction at Philo, near here. The bin will be built in the old Ohio State canal along the Muskingum river.

Man Killed; Wife Injured.

Cleveland, Nov. 3.—John Boone of Berea was fatally injured when his automobile was struck by a New York Central fast mail train at Olmstead Falls. He died after being taken to a Berea hospital, where his wife, also an occupant of the machine, is suffering from probable internal injuries.

AMERICA SEEKS FULL INQUIRY

Hughes Proposal Open to Acceptance or Rejection.

COOLIDGE OUTLINES STAND

Participation of United States in Reparations Dispute Depends Upon Acceptance of the Hughes Plan For Full Inquiry Into Germany's Ultimate Capacity to Pay—Official Information Awaited.

Washington, Nov. 3.—American participation in the reparations controversy depends upon acceptance of the Hughes plan for a full inquiry into Germany's ultimate capacity to pay.

Such was President Coolidge's reply to declarations by Premier Poincare and the French foreign office that the scope of the investigation should deal only with Germany's present capacity.

The president's view, set forth at the white house by an authorized spokesman after the cabinet meeting, is that the American proposal is "inclusive and broad," and takes in Germany's capacity to pay, not this minute, not today, not tomorrow, but ultimately to the limit of her ability.

Mr. Coolidge's estimate of the situation may be summarized as follows. First, the inquiry must be along such lines as will be likely to produce real results; second, the American proposal is open to acceptance or rejection, not to such restrictions as would make futile the inquiry, and third, if the proposal is accepted, no American member will, in any way, represent the United States government.

The entire reparations controversy was gone over thoroughly at the cabinet meeting. Secretary of State Hughes presented a "full report on the progress made thus far." The cabinet learned that the state department is without official information covering French proposals for limiting the scope of the inquiry under the Hughes plan. M. Poincare has communicated officially only with the British government and has dealt with the United States merely in an informal manner.

Press despatches from abroad, however, were gone over by the president and his advisers, as were the formal and informal diplomatic communications received by Secretary Hughes. The diplomatic communications were interpreted as indicating "hopeful acceptance" of the Hughes scheme.

Attention was directed to the fact that the original Hughes proposal was for an inquiry "broad and inclusive and not limited in any way." The cabinet realized that those nations to which the Hughes plan had been submitted were free to accept or reject it.

HOLDS HER OWN

Mrs. Helen Stokes Submits to Grilling Cross-Examination.

New York, Nov. 3.—Helen Ellwood Stokes, young wife of W. E. D. Stokes, millionaire sportsman, submitted to more than four hours' grilling cross-examination in the suit for divorce brought against her. On the whole, her testimony was a blanket denial of all statements made by plaintiff's witnesses which tended to show her friendship with Edgar T. Wallace, millionaire co-respondent, or to portray weaknesses of character or indiscreet actions.

Attorney Steiner's questions covered a varied field. He asked about house parties which Mrs. Stokes attended in Wyoming and Wisconsin during her girlhood. He inquired into the matter of probably incriminating kodak pictures said to have been "planted" in the defendant's picture album by the plaintiff after he came into her possession. He wanted to know if she knew various prosecution witnesses who had declared on the stand that they had seen Mrs. Stokes in the apartment of the co-respondent. To all she gave decided answers, mostly in the negative.

Three Asphyxiated.

Lindin, N. J., Nov. 3.—Mrs. Anna Hazedusch, 29, a widow, killed herself and her two children by gas asphyxiation in their modest home here. She apparently turned on the gas after putting the children, Frank, 10, and Andrew, 5, to bed.

School Girl Loses Life.

Cincinnati, Nov. 3.—Ten-year-old Estelle Hill ran into the path of an automobile, which hurled her to the pavement, inflicting injuries from which she died a few hours later.

CANADIAN SKIPPER QUILTS

Refuses to Abide by the Decision of the Racing Committee.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 3.—A wrathful Scotch skipper put an end to the squabble over the international fishermen's racing championship when Captain Angus Walters, defying the committee's order to race again, sailed the "Bluenose" for Lunenburg, announcing, "I'll race no more this year."

The Bluenose beat the American schooner Columbia in two consecutive races. But on a protest by the Columbia crew that the Canadian craft had passed to landward of a shallow water buoy, instead of going by it to seaward, as required by the rules, the committee awarded the second race to the Columbia, and named Saturday for the third and deciding match. Then up rose Captain Walters and said he would not stand for it. With this situation to face the committee called the series off, returned the trophy to the race trust and split the $500 prize money between the crews of the two craft.

Transatlantic Broadcasting.

London, Nov. 3.—"If our hopes materialize the night between Dec. 1 and 2 will mark the first real step forward in transatlantic broadcasting," declared P. P. Eckersley, chief engineer of the British Broadcasting company. In an informal announcement issued by the company, it was stated that there will be an attempt on the night of Nov. 28 to broadcast a message to America, but behind the announcement is the scheme to make the whole science of broadcasting definitely international.

LLOYD GEORGE SAILS

Carries With Him an Understanding of America's Vastness.

New York, Nov. 3.—David Lloyd George, wife, daughter and other members of the party sailed on the Majestic for England at noon today. Lloyd George carries with him not only an understanding of the vastness of America, exceeding all his previous notions in that respect, but a sympathetic understanding of American mind and thought which may be reflected in his future parliamentary career. This understanding was reached by visits to more than a dozen American cities and travels across large areas of American territory. His farewell to America, delivered in the Metropolitan opera house, last night was a masterful effort. It was his greatest speech, and was an appeal for peace.

Babe Ruth Sued.

Boston, Nov. 3.—George H. "Babe" Ruth, home run king of the New York Yankees, has been sued for $2,500 on a note by Isadore Gronstein, Boston attorney. In superior court Judge Hammond entered a default when Ruth failed to appear in answer to summons.

Truck Driver Killed.

Toledo, Nov. 3.—William Glanzman, 17, was killed when he tried to beat an Ohio Electric interurban car across the tracks with his truck, and failed.

SONG STORIES OF THE SAWDUST TRAIL

by

HOMER A. RODEHEAVER

Famous Song Director of the "Billy" Sunday Evangelistic Campaigns

He Will Not Let Me Fall.

Rev. A. H. Adley. B. D. Adley.

1. My faith temp-ta-tion shall not move, For Je-sus knows it all,
2. When grief is more than I can bear--Too weak am I to call--
3. Sometimes I fal-ter, filled with fear, I can-not see at all,

And holds me with His arm of love--He will not let me fall.
If I but lift my heart in pray'r, He will not let me fall.
His voice I nev-er fail to hear--"I will not let thee fall."

CHORUS.
He will not let me fall, He will not let me fall,
He will not let me fall, He will not let me fall,
He is my Strength, my Hope, my all, He will not let me fall.

This is a story told to one of our women workers. During one of our afternoon meetings an unusual spirit of sympathy and inspiration seemed to pervade the audience, and at the close of the service among the scores who took their stand for consecrated lives was a middle-aged, stylishly dressed woman, who was easily identified as one of the best known society ladies of the city.

Her stand was a distinct surprise, and something of a sensation; but it was evidently even more of a surprise to the woman, herself.

It was no spasmodic sentiment seeking a momentary expression.

It was an earnest, genuine vision of God, and it had thrust a sudden white glare into the hidden recesses of her soul, with some surprising results.

"It may seem strange," she said, "but that song, 'He Will Not Let Me Fall,' seemed almost a mirror in which I saw for the first time my real life, and the selfishness and worldliness which I had always managed to hide from myself before.

"For the first time I realized that I had missed the Greatest Friend of All, and that I had done so because in my worldly pride, I thought I hadn't needed Him.

"And so I had allowed myself to drift away into the pursuit of selfish social ambitions until I was at a point where nothing else mattered."

She hesitated.

"My husband died about a year ago, and on his death I found that unfortunate investment had reduced what I had always thought to be an assured fortune to practically nothing.

"In fact, I did not have enough to continue the expenses of our home without running into debt.

"But I could not bring myself to economize because my daughter had just been introduced to society, and I was afraid, if I let our friends know our real financial condition it would injure her socially and, and--so I have kept things going, hoping that my girl would make a rich marriage, which would solve our difficulties.

"A short time ago a man proposed to her, who stands among the wealthiest bachelors of the city, a man who is received into the most exclusive society, but whose personal life I know would not bear investigation.

"There were many ugly stories told of his various affairs and his heartless conduct with different women, but when he asked for my girl as his wife I saw only the fact that his money would restore us to the position which we had always enjoyed and would eliminate all of my troubles.

"So I encourage my daughter to temporize with him, altho I knew she did not love him, and we had about been taken from them by death, furnished another striking example of the message of this song.

The child was one of the brightest and most winsome little ones in the neighborhood.

The little girl was a beautiful creature, with an aureole of golden curls about her merry face and a disposition that earned for her the loving name of "Little Miss Sunshine."

Her parents fairly idolized her, and their devotion was a household word.

One night the mother was awakened by a croupy gurgle from the cot of their loved one.

In less than ten hours, in spite of the best medical aid they could secure they saw their darling snatched from them in a convulsive death struggle.

The day before their home had been the abode of laughter and life and love. Now it was stricken by the shadow of death.

For weeks the young parents literally dragged their sad way about their daily duties, with a grief that was pitiful to see.

It was about this time that we opened a campaign in the community, and in the first days some of the neighbors persuaded the young couple to attend with them.

They came several times.

Neither had been active in Christian work. They had thought of joining a church, but had never done so and the death of their child had turned their half-formed resolution now into a sullen bitterness.

It was not until our campaign was well under way that the Christian friends of the young couple who had been watching eagerly for the first sign that their hearts had been touched, were rewarded.

One night we sang the song "He Will Not Let Me Fall."

When we reached the second verse, those sitting nearest the young husband and wife suddenly saw the latter burst into sobs, and a moment later tears glistened in the eyes of the man at her side.

When the invitation was given they were among the first to take their stand and their faces were streaked with tears.

But no longer were they tears of a hopeless anguish and grief.

There was a light in their moistened eyes like the radiance of a beautiful rainbow showing thru the clouds of a storm.

For the first time they had glimpsed the wonderful promise of that Great Friend, whose love for us is so great and tender and enduring that it buries even those griefs of the flesh which come to us.

They had found the Crucified Jesus--and their dead child had shown them the way to the cross.

AMUSEMENTS

All the dentists in the world never got as many laughs out of pulling a tooth as Harold Lloyd does in "Why Worry?" his latest contribution to the screen, which many will proclaim the best farce they have seen in the silver sheet or on the stage, for that matter.

John Aasen, the eight foot nine giant who plays with Lloyd in this picture is the comedian's tooth pulling victim and there is a laugh in this sequence for every foot of the giant's great body.

You will have to see this episode in "Why Worry?" to appreciate how funny it is, for in the five pre-views of the Lloyd picture on the west coast, audiences were convulsed by it.

It is doubtful if the average human being could stand the severe test to which Aasen was put while losing a troublesome molar, yet it was a minor event for this great bulk of humanity who weighs close to 500 pounds.

This sequence of a high light of "Why Worry?" for it establishes the giant as Lloyd's friend and makes him an important factor in the revolutionary scenes which follow.

"Why Worry?" is Lloyd's biggest production, if not his best. An entire South American town was reconstructed for the picture, and more than a thousand extras were employed in the big battle scenes. It is a Pathe-comedy and will be shown Monday at the Met theater.

Vote for B. T. Hedges for councilman-at-large.

Ain't It the Truth?

A man spends a life time in an earnest attempt to acquire knowledge. About the only thing he learns to a certainty is that if he wishes to be shaved on Saturday it is better to go to the barber shop in the forenoon. Everything else is disputed by somebody.--Philadelphia Public Ledger.

HARTMAN THEATER

Charles "Chic" Sale, typically American as corn on the cob or rhubarb pie, as his admirers aver, is to be seen at the Hartman three days beginning Monday, November 5, in Herbert Hall Winslow's new American comedy drama, "Common Sense." Mr. Sale has been a familiar figure on Columbus stages in the past, but this is the first time he has made a visit at the head of his own company. "Common Sense" is described by its author as a humorous satire on blue laws and a timely warning against their insidious effects. Painstakingly, Winslow has gathered facts about the efforts of fanatics to curtail liberty of thought, speech and action and his completed picture is no wise overdrawn or exaggerated. With the play American thru and thru, "Chic" Sale is the artist who can act it "real American."

Vaudeville has already acclaimed him as great and now he is reaping new laurels as a straight comedian. His excellent supporting company includes Betty Weston, Lillian Ross, Florence Earle, Geneva Harrison, Virginia Sale, Claude Kimball, Harry English, John Keefe, Milton Nobles Jr. Charles Honnell and others. Mail orders should be sent now. There will be a matinee Wednesday.

"Good Morning Dearie" famous musical comedy, comes to the Hartman for a three day stay beginning Thursday night, November 8. Jerome Kern, who wrote the music for "Good Morning Dearie" also wrote the music for Ziegfeld's "Sally" and Edward Royce who staged it, did a like service for "Sally" and the Ziegfeld "Follies." Anna Caldwell, who wrote the book and lyrics is well known as the author of "China Chin" and all the Fred Stone shows. She has taken a story with the thrills of melodrama and made it the basis for a comedy with music that possesses surprise, fun, excitement and novelty. The big cast includes Virginia Watson, Gwendolyn Roland, Mary Diehl, Kitty Clark, Lou Powers, Roland Hogue, Edward Allen Abbott Adams, the twelve Sunbeam girls, the sensational dancers from London and a chorus of beauties and dancing boys. There will be a matinee on Saturday. Mail orders now.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO

PROPOSING TO AMEND SECTION 35 OF ARTICLE II OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF OHIO RELATING TO WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the state of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each House concurring therein:

That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, in the manner provided by law, at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1923, a proposal to amend section 35 of article II of the constitution of the state of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE II.

Sec. 35. For the purpose of providing compensation to workmen and their dependents, for death, injuries or occupational diseases, arising out of and in the course of such workmen's employment, laws may be passed establishing a state fund to be created by compulsory contribution thereto by employers, and administered by the state, determining the terms and conditions upon which payment shall be made therefrom. Such compensation shall be in lieu of all other rights to compensation or damages for such death, injury or occupational disease, and any employer who pays the premium or compensation provided by law, passed in accordance herewith, shall not be liable to respond in damages at common law or by statute for such death, injury or occupational disease. Laws may be passed establishing a board which may be empowered to determine all questions arising out of the degree of hazard, to fix rates of contribution to such fund according to such classification, and to collect, administer and distribute such fund and to determine all rights of claimants thereon. Such board shall set aside as a separate fund such proportion of the contributions paid by employers as in its judgment may be necessary, not exceeding one per centum thereof in any year, and so as to equalize, insofar as possible, the burden thereof, to be expended by such board in such manner as may be provided by law for the investigation and prevention of industrial accidents and diseases. Such board shall have full power and authority to hear and determine whether or not an injury, disease or death resulted because of the failure of the employer to comply with any specific requirement for the protection of the lives, health or safety of employees, enacted by the General Assembly of the state, and its decision shall be final; and for the purpose of such investigations and inquiries it may appoint referees. When an injury, disease or death resulted because of such failure by the employer, such amount as shall be found to be just, not greater than fifty per centum of the maximum award established by law, shall be added by the board, to the amount of the compensation that may be awarded on account of such injury, disease or death, and paid in like manner as other awards; and, if such compensation is paid from the state fund, the premium of such employer shall be increased in such amount as shall be determined by the board, as will recoup the state fund in the amount of such additional award notwithstanding any and all other provisions in this constitution.

SEC. 36. If a majority of the electors voting on said amendment shall be ascertained, according to law, to have voted in favor thereof, the same shall take effect on the first day of January, 1924, and said original section 35 of article II of the constitution of Ohio shall thereupon be repealed.

Be it further resolved, That at the election hereon adopted by the submission of this amendment to the electors of the state, the same shall be placed upon this official ballot in the manner provided by law, and shall be designated as follows:

Providing compensation for all accidents and diseases arising out of employment, providing additional compensation for employees where accident or disease results from failure to comply with specific requirements for the protection of lives, health and safety of employees, abolishing open liability of employers, and providing a fund for the investigation and prevention of industrial accidents and diseases, YES.

And be it further resolved, That the required publication of said amendment shall be made, and the form of the ballot to be used at said election for the submission of this amendment shall be prepared by the secretary of state in conformity with law and the foregoing provisions.

Speaker of the House of Representatives.
EARL D. BLOOM,
President of the Senate.
Adopted April 6th, 1923.

That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, for their approval or rejection, at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1923, a proposal to amend article V, section 1, of the constitution of the state of Ohio, to read as follows:

ARTICLE V.

Section 1. Every citizen of the United States, of the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a resident of the state one year next preceding the election, and of the county, township, or ward, in which he resides, such time as may be provided by law, shall be qualified to vote at all elections, and be entitled to vote at all elections.

Be it further resolved, That at such election above referred to, this proposal shall be placed upon the official ballot in the manner provided by law in such form as the secretary of state may designate.

EARL D. BLOOM,

PROPOSING TO AMEND ARTICLE II, SECTION 1g, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF OHIO RELATIVE TO PUBLICATION OF NOTICE OF PROPOSED LAW OR CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TOGETHER WITH ARGUMENTS FOR AND AGAINST.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each House concurring therein:

That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state for their approval or rejection, at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1923, a proposal to amend article II, section 1g, of the constitution of the state of Ohio to read as follows:

A signer residing outside of a municipality shall state the township and county in which he resides before a resolution of a municipality shall be in addition to the name of such municipality, the street number, if any, of his residence and the ward and precinct in which the same is located. The names of all signers of such petitions shall be written in ink, each signer for himself. votes cast thereon, shall be held unconstitutional or void on account of the insufficiency of the petitioners of which such submission was made, or of the fact that the same was procured, nor shall the rejection of any law submitted by referendum petition be invalid for such insufficiency. Upon all initiative, supplementary or referendum petitions provided for in any of the sections of this article, it shall be necessary to file from each one-half of the counties of the state, petitioners bearing the signatures of not less than one-half of the designated percentage of the electors of such county. A true copy of all laws or proposed laws or proposed amendments to the constitution, together with argument or explanation, or both, for, and also an argument or explanation, or both, against the same, shall be prepared. The person or persons who prepare the argument or explanation, or both, against any law, section or item, submitted to the electors by referendum petition, may be named in such petition and the persons who prepare the argument or explanation, or both, for any proposed law or proposed amendment to the constitution may be named in the petition proposing the same. The person or persons who prepare the argument or explanation, or both, for the law, section, or item, submitted to the electors by referendum petition, or against any proposed amendment to the constitution, shall be named by the general assembly, if in session, and if not in session then by the governor. The secretary of state shall either (a) cause to be printed and distributed to the electors, together with the arguments and explanations, not exceeding a total of three hundred words for each, and also the arguments and explanations, not exceeding a total of three hundred words against each, and shall mail, or otherwise distribute, a copy of such law, or proposed law, or proposed amendment to the constitution, together with such arguments and explanations, not exceeding a total of three hundred words for each, and also the arguments and explanations, not exceeding a total of three hundred words against each, and cause the same to be published in one or more newspapers in each county of the state, once each week, for not more than three consecutive weeks, the publication thereof to be not less than ten days prior to the day of election.

Be it further resolved, That at such election above referred to this proposal shall be placed on the official ballot in the manner provided by law in such form as the secretary of state may designate.

If the votes for the proposal shall exceed those against it, this amendment shall take effect on the first day of January, 1924, and original section 1g of article II of the constitution of the state of Ohio shall be repealed and annulled.

HOME RULE IN TAXATION.

By ROBERT A. TAFT, Cincinnati.

FOR many years we have heard the popular cry for home rule in taxation. Every two years we have witnessed an assault of local communities on the legislature "for relief." The difficulty is that our tax rates are practically fixed at Columbus without reference to local conditions in any county. Originally there was some elasticity in the Smith law, but the countless amendments and exceptions have practically supplied a set of arbitrary rules which must be followed in every county.

The evil of this system is clear when we consider that the urban county in Ohio has practically a different kind of government from that of the rural county, yet under the present jumble of laws the same tax limit and the same rules apply.

The result is that in the rural districts, and where special conditions exist, as in Findlay, where the Standard Oil company pays nearly half the taxes, taxes may often be too high, whereas in other cases the allowance is admittedly not half enough to operate the government. The present law does not even confer the power of voting extra levies outside of the 15 mill limit, except 3 mills for school purposes. But even if power to vote extra levies is given, this is not necessarily home rule in taxation.

Complete home rule would permit each county to adopt its entire system of limits fitted to its own needs. This is perhaps not possible today, but the Taft law gives as wide home rule as can be given under the present constitution.

The Taft law gives the budget commission at least 5 mills within the limit, which it may distribute at its discretion in accordance with the particular needs of each county. Most of this in the rural counties will go to the county. In the urban counties it will be divided between the city and the schools. After a careful investigation and based on the particular facts developed in each county, the budget commission, within reasonable limitations, will have power to determine the tax distribution. The people are given power to vote any amount which may be necessary for any purpose. The Taft law thus confers substantial home rule in taxation.

THE TAFT AND SMITH LAWS-I.

By H. H. GRISWOLD, Attorney General's Office.

THE Taft law recognizes the fundamental principles of the Smith law, namely, tax limitation. It corrects two fundamental mistakes of the Smith law, the first of which is discussed here.

The limits provided by the Smith law were fixed at a figure so low that government could not be carried on within them during the period of increasing prices between 1910 and 1920. It provided no means of adjustment to changed conditions. This had two results:

In the first place, the legislature was called upon to make exception to the law to cover actual needs. One exception called for another, and today we have as many levies outside of the limits as are inside. The system is so complex that the ordinary citizen can not understand it. In legislating for communities that had to have more money, the limits for communities that did not, were often raised.

Secondly, the Smith law placed a premium on borrowing for current expenses and issuing long time bonds. Municipal indebtedness rose from $188,000,000 in 1912 to $679,000,000 in 1922, and much of it represented borrowing for current expenses. The people demand that government and the schools shall function. Officials who could not secure funds from tax levies secured them by borrowing. The more they borrowed, the larger part of the 15 mills was required to provide for repayment; the more required for paying debts, the less there was left for current expenses and the greater incentive to additional bonds, and so the process went in a circle.

The Taft law corrects these defects. It establishes limits shown by 10 years' experience to be reasonable for economical government. It provides for a real and effective budget commission which can cut levies below the limits where conditions justify. It provides means by which the people can raise the limits if conditions demand it. It is not necessary to raise the limit for the whole state to relieve one city under the Taft law. By placing outside of the limit levies for bonds hereafter issued, the premium on long time bonds is removed. Borrowing for current expenses is forbidden. The result is a pay-as-you-go system.

Church Built From One Tree.
With the exception of the floor, every piece of timber used in the construction of a church recently completed at Santa Rosa, Cal., was cut from one tree—a giant redwood, 18 feet in diameter. The tree produced 78,000 feet of timber, besides a large number of shingles.

REPUBLICAN TICKET

For Mayor
H. C. RENICK
For Auditor
N. R. HUSTON
For Treasurer
CLARK WILL
For Councilman-at-Large
B. T. HEDGES

THE ELECTION.

Next Tuesday is election day and the voters seem to be apathetic and unconcerned about the final outcome.

The Republicans of the city present their ticket, not a long one, but of splendid quality.

For mayor Henry C. Renick is a candidate for reelection on his record of the last two years. He has made good in his first term and should be given a vote of confidence on next Tuesday.

Nelson R. Huston, for city auditor is the present service director, is well known to everybody, and would make a faithful, efficient city auditor who would always have the interest of the city at heart.

Clark Will, assistant cashier of the Third National bank, is the candidate for city treasurer. He is in every way qualified for this position of trust and is a young man of excellent character and is deserving.

For councilman-at-large B. T. Hedges is a candidate for reelection. He has shown in his first term that he understands the duties of the office and his sole desire is to advance the interests of Circleville. Our lawmaking body is composed of seven members and the name of Mr. Hedges is the only one proposed by the Republicans. The minority should be represented in the city council.

For members of the board of education on the non-partisan ballot are the names of Charles H. May, Dr. D. V. Courtright, Robert G. Colville and F. E. Barnhill. The first two are present members of the board.

The constitutional amendments and laws proposed to be voted on are: Workmen's compensation.

Taft law.

Albaugh law

Elective franchise.

Publication of proposed legislation in newspapers.

Old age pensions.

Our own opinion is that the best interests of the state are served by voting "yes" on the first five proposals and "no" on the last.

Young Schaeffer Wins His Third Game of Billiard Tourney.

New York, Nov. 3.—Young Jake Schaeffer, son of the "old wizard," Jake, preserved a clean slate in the world's 18.2 balkline billiards championship tourney by overwhelming Erich Hagenlacher, the German champion, 500 to 173. Schaeffer has won three games and lost none. He still has to meet two of the greatest of cue wizards, Champion Willie Hoppe and Welker Cochran, who have each won two and lost one engagement.

Edouard Moremans, the champion of Belgium, defeated Roger Conté, the French champion, 500 to 475 points. It was Moremans' first victory in three engagements and Conté's fourth defeat in as many matches.

LIVE QUESTION

Noted Speaker to be Here Thursday Night at M. E. Church.

The growing popular tendency to face the question of American participation in the League of Nations as a great moral issue, rather than a partisan political plaything, is evidenced in the "Conference on International Relations" being held here Tuesday afternoon and evening under direction of the City Council of Churches.

Together on the platform at this meeting, Columbus will hear a Republican political manager and a great international religious leader, urging full assumption of responsibility by the United States in the task of bringing peace to a war torn world.

Everett Colby, former Republican national committeeman, placing national duty above partisan expedience is outspoken in his appeals for American membership in the League. With him is Sherwood Eddy, perhaps better informed than any other American regarding the present day trend of political and religious thought throughout the world.

These men are presenting their views for the consideration of the Christian people of Columbus at the conference. Their visit there constituted a challenge to every man and woman to give a frank answer to the question "can America do her full duty as a godly nation without actively supporting the most promising movement yet launched in the direction of world peace?"—Columbus Citizen, October 23, 1923.

"Kelly," said the Hotel Stenographer "if we had good roads every where, like we ought to, I would be an engged wo man this day."

"Tell me some more" encouraged the House Detective.

"Do you remember that fellow I thought I had lost, because I ate the potato salad with onions in it, so I couldn't go to the movie with him?"

"I am not certain," replied the House Detective.

"Well, anyhow," said the girl, "Saturday he made my heart hop, like a frog in a milk can, by asking me to go riding Sunday. I put on all I had in the way of clothes, and we went out into the country. He showed me the oyster plants growing and the young cows and pigs and talked about how nice the country was, so I know he has the little farm complex."

"Right there I told him that my idea of a nice dress was a gingham bungalow apron, and that all my life I had wanted to go out into the Magnus Johnson life, and be a farm girl and curry the calves, and cook, and every thing, and, Kelly, he fell for it, like a fat man stepping on a banana."

"Then he told me how surprised he was to find a city bred girl, who danced, and was good looking, who cared for things like that. His idea of being happy was to find some nice girl and be a bungaloater all his life."

"Just as he was about to say some more words, which I had the earache listening for, Kelly, his car hit a couple of 'thank ye ma'ams' in the highway; my hat fell off; he twisted the wheel, and began to say things about country roads that drove me as far out of his mind as a pigeon could fly in a week."

CAMERA FAST AS LIGHTNING

Machines Invented in United States and England Capable of Making 5,000 Exposures a Second.

The invention in the United States and England of two revolutionary types of "slow motion" moving picture cameras, capable respectively of making 3,200 and 5,000 exposures a second, which permit the photographing in elaborate detail of such actions as the bursting of a shell against armor plate, is announced.

Under the eye of the super-high-speed camera a rubber ball dropped to the ground is shown to be flattened almost into a hemisphere at the moment of impact, a circumstance which, by showing resiliency in detail, is of scientific value to tire manufacturers in deciding on the design and construction of their products. Other secrets of rapid mechanical action disclosed by the cameras are expected to lead to industrial and scientific improvements.

The smashing of a glass vacuum bulb by a hammer, an action which occupies something less than 1-100 of a second, is shown by these cameras in about fifty pictures—more than three feet of film—which at normal projecting speed would be run off on the screen in between three and four seconds. This enables scientific study to be made of each stage of a process that the fastest cameras hitherto devised have pictured as instantaneous.

The American machine was developed by C. Francis Jenkins of Washington. The British camera is known as the Heape-Gryll rapid cinema machine. They are large contrivances (weight of the English machine is four tons) operated by electric motors, and are started and stopped mechanically, since the human hand is too slow to operate the switch at the precise instant of the action to be photographed. Giant searchlights and chemical flashes are employed to furnish light, since photographic film is incapable of producing images under such short exposures as is given in these cameras—often less than 1-100-000 of a second.—Popular Science Monthly.

CIRCLEVILLE,

A STATEMENT TO THE PEOPLE OF CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO.

To begin with, I fully recognize the fact that no person can fill the office of mayor to the entire satisfaction of all, or nearly all, the people. My idea has been to do the thing that would benefit the greatest number. I have had this in my mind when signing or vetoing ordinances passed by the city council. I have always tried my utmost to be fair and impartial in all cases tried in my court and am sure I cannot be accused of favoritism in a single case.

In 22 months of my term I have assessed $8,015.71 in fines and costs in liquor cases alone. In the same number of months just prior to my administration there was $3,129.95 assessed under same charges and the improvement in this condition is plainly visible.

In filling office by appointment I have selected the best people in my judgment for the various places namely: Mr. Huston for service director; Mr. Lyle, safety director; Mr. Ruggles, Mr. Adkins and Mr. Howard for sinking fund trustees; Mr. Folsom Mrs. Henry and Miss Moody for library board; Mrs. Gussman and Mr. Colwell for board of health; Mr. Foresman for civil service board and Mr. Caldwell, president of council. All of these are competent and trustworthy persons who take an active interest in city affairs.

H. C. RENICK, Mayor.

NOW IS TIME TO HELP.

Now that the Hinde Paper Box company has selected the site for their new Container Plant, there is no longer any reason for our people withholding their support from the project. Fibre containers are used here in very large quantities. The city is badly in need of steady employment for its people. Let everyone subscribe as they can afford and help get the good work started.

OLD HOMESTEAD FOR SALE.

The undersigned, as trustee and representative of the children and heirs at law of the late Christena Adkins, will offer for sale at public auction at the front door of the court house in the city of Circleville, Ohio,

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1923, at 2 o'clock P. M., the homestead of the late Christena Adkins, located in Wayne township, Pickaway County, Ohio, on the Circleville and Washington Turnpike (improved as State Highway No. 10.) and containing 89 acres of land, more or less.

This is one of the most valuable farms in Pickaway county, rich land, thoroly tilled, silo, 2 barns, excellent farm scales under roof, chicken house, smoke and wash house and a nine room house that is practically new. This house is as near modern as a country home can be made with Delco lighting system practically new and in good condition.

The wheat is not yet sown but expect to sow it. If sown, the heirs will turn over to the purchaser one-half of the wheat sown on said lands. If purchaser desires to buy the tenant's one-half he has the privilege of doing so by paying for sowing the same. The heirs will pay the December, 1923 tax but all taxes thereafter shall be paid by the purchaser. Possession will be given to do anything on the premises that will not interfere with rights of tenant now in possession and full possession will be given March 1, 1924.

The purchaser or purchasers will be required to pay one thousand dollars on day of sale as good faith money, and the balance of purchase price within thirty days from day of sale in cash. A contract of sale will be entered into with purchaser on day of sale and when terms of sale are complied with a warranty deed for the premises, free and clear from all incumbrances will be handed purchaser, except the June tax, 1924.

If you desire an ideal home on an ideal road and very near good markets you will be interested in this sale. Come and look at it. This is a forced sale to distribute the estate of the deceased.

LYCEUM THEATER

In the announcement of the continuous presentation of "Abie's Irish Rose" at the Lyceum theater for a third week, beginning Sunday matinee November 4, Columbus records for a consecutive run of the same play are broken. Capacity audiences is the general rule here as in all cities in which Anne Nichols' sensational successful comedy is presented, with a heavy advance sale indicating the increasing popularity of "Abie."

The splendid cast of players here, a combination of the late Pittsburgh organization and a few members of the present New York company loaned for Columbus engagement have got together in their best stride and are giving a performance of perfect team work. Already the box office ticket sellers are reporting return visits of many patrons who have seen "Abie's Irish Rose" more than once. This is a usual feature in the engagements of this play, for its action is so rapid, the dialogue so scintillating and the situations so complicated, that a second or third visit is enjoyed more than the first one. Under all the surface of roaring laugh provoking scenes there are touches of pathos to relieve the strain of continuous laughter and a moral contained in its concrete illustration that a broad spirit of tolerance and love will reconcile age old antagonisms. In this play, Abie, a Jewish youth, marries Rosemary Murphy, an Irish Catholic girl, and at once lets loose the warring characteristics contained in the natures of the widely differing viewpoints of their respective fathers. That Abie and Rosie marry three times, the ceremonies being performed by a Methodist minister, a Rabbi and a priest, in a vain effort to please their fathers, affords a series of situations better imagined than described. This theme as is the case with the entire play is of course treated from a screamingly funny, humorous angle without offense to the most sensitive. Matinee performances are given Sunday, Wednesday and Saturday.

How to Keep Rubber Soft.

A prominent tire manufacturer says that an excellent way to prevent hardening of inner tubes when they are stored for the winter is to place them in hot water once a month or every six weeks. They should be immersed for just a couple of minutes, and should then be carefully dried and partly inflated before being hung up again. This treatment serves to keep the rubber pliable and soft.

This Critical World.

It's impossible to please everybody, and if a girl has what we, in our ignorance, consider a good figure the neighbor women say she is burly.—Ohio State Journal.

To the Voters of Rural Ohio:

The farmer is being led to believe that the Taft law will give him a 14 mill tax limitation as against 17 mills in municipalities. The farmer should carefully examine section 21 of the Taft bill which places bond issues and tax levies for road building outside all limitations. This one item alone will raise the tax rate higher than it is at present.

The people of this state must take a stand for economy.

The place to begin is by voting "NO" on the Taft and Albaugh bills.

TO FILE SUIT

Mrs. Barbara Short Will Ask $168,500 for Husband's Accidental Death.

Mrs. Barbara Short, executrix and widow of the late Cary T. Short will in a few days file a civil action in common pleas court to recover $168,500 on accident insurance policies carried by her husband. Seven companies are involved in the impending litigation, thru failure to make payments following his death.

The companies had sixty days in which to pay and so far they have refused and the time limit will expire in a few days.

Following the two post mortems and the verdict rendered by the coroner, the companies declined to pay contending that Mr. Short was a victim of heart failure and that the death was not an accident.

Mr. Short was probably the largest carrier of accident insurance policies in this state and the outcome of the case will be awaited with much interest.

The seven companies that carried accident policies on the life of Mr. Short were as follows:

The Continental Casualty company of Chicago, Illinois, death $30,000, indemnity, $100 a week.

Travelers, of Hartford, Connecticut, death, $7,500, indemnity $25 a week. Pacific Mutual, of Los Angeles, California, death $15,000, indemnity $50 a week.

Globe Indemnity company, of Newark, New Jersey, death $7,500; indemnity $25 a week.

The above named policies were placed by S. G. Rader, of this city, and Case & West of Columbus.

Aetna, of Hartford, Connecticut, death only, $50,000.

American Casualty company of Reading, Pennsylvania, death $7,500, indemnity $25 a week. This policy was written by A. Hulse Hays, of this city.

Connecticut General Life of Hartford, Connecticut, $50,000 death only, written by Henry Ebersole, of Ashville.

Ten years ago Mr. Short was written by the Equitable Life, of Des Moines, Iowa, for a ten year term on a policy of $10,000. This policy expired April 19, of this year.

Following the expiration of this last named policy and unable to secure straight life policies owing to the fact of not being able to pass a rigid medical examination the deceased invested in accident insurance for protection.

Vote for H. C. Renick for mayor.

Might Not Suit Jefferson.

A London editor says of Mount Vernon:

"Here can be seen and visualized the life of an English gentleman in America in the Eighteenth century."

And then, applauding the effort to make Monticello a national possession, the editor adds:

"If a similar atmosphere can be introduced into Monticello as a memorial to Thomas Jefferson the committee will deserve the thanks of all lovers of democracy."

But not the thanks of T. J. himself, remarks Girard. To be regarded as an "English gentleman in America" would tickle him just as much as it would please Mr. Bryan to be labeled agent for John Barleycorn or Senator Brookhart to be called the right bower of Henry Cabot Lodge.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Bit Mixed.

A tourist in Scotland was boastfully told by a resident of Tain that the place was a most noteworthy one, being one of the old royal burghs of the country. "Why," his informant went on, "its charter was granted by King David himself."

"Dear, dear me!" exclaimed the tourist. "You don't tell me so. Was that the—er—gentleman who wrote the Psalms?"—Boston Transcript.

The Mule's Definition.

"What did you say?" asked the donkey.

"I said I was a motor car," repeated the flivver.

"And I'm a horse," said the donkey.

HUNT SNAKE WORSHIPER AS ZOO THEFT SUSPECT

East Indian Who Bowd Before Cobras Sought in Gotham.

New York.—A tall, bearded East Indian serpent worshiper is sought by the police as the burglar who attempted to steal some of the deadliest reptiles in the world from the Bronx zoo.

Detectives received a detailed description of a dark-skinned frequenter of the zoo who has been observed repeatedly to bow with reverence before the king cobras, believed by an East Indian sect to be tenanted by the souls of princes. Two policemen were assigned as bodyguard to the cobras.

The suspected devotee has been seen slowly and gravely inclining his head to the king cobra sometimes for fully five minutes.

"This man has been seen at worship so often," said Mr. Dittmars, "that the keepers usually move off when they see him approach and take some position from which they can observe him without being noticed."

"This particular man has the dark eyes, hair and beard of a Hindu, but wears ordinary clothes. He is slender and tall. He comes in frequently. He always takes a great interest in the hooded cobras, the yellow ones and others, but he reserves his adoration for the king cobra. I have made an investigation and find that the belief of one sect of serpent worshipers is that the king cobra is inhabited by the soul of a prince, while the humbler cobras contain the souls of common men. All kinds are treated with respect, but the obeisance is made only to the king cobra, regarded as a superior."

"It appears extremely likely to me that this man is the perpetrator of this attempted burglary, to me the most mysterious and fascinating crime on record."

"The man I mention seems to be the leader of the serpent worshipers, but there are others of his race who come here and are simply absorbed in gazing at the cobras."

"A few white men have also shown an abnormal interest in the king cobras, and a recent investigation we have made indicates that there are a great many more reptile worshipers in this part of the world than anyone seems to have suspected."

There are nearly 200,000 serpent worshipers in India, according to the estimate of W. Crooks, author of "The Religion and Folk-Lore of Northern India." He computed the votaries of the snake-god Guga at 123,000. Twenty-five thousand others worshiped Naga, another snake-god, and more than 30,000 adored lesser snake deities.

Worship of the cobra is ancient. The Egyptian Goddess Osiris took the form of the cobra. The figures of Tut-Ankh-Amen that were found in his tomb, for instance, had golden cobras coiled on the hat as symbols that he was under the protection of Osiris.

18-Year-Old Farm Girl 99.9 Per Cent Perfect

To be judged 99.9 per cent perfect in an interstate health contest and to be chosen to represent Iowa in the National Health contest to be held at the International Live Stock exposition in Chicago the first week in December are the honors awarded Frances Baustian, an eighteen-year-old farm girl from Eldridge, Iowa. Frances was a member of the champion home economics demonstration team at the Iowa State fair and went with this team to the Interstate fair at Sioux City where it again won highest honors among the home economics project teams. While at Sioux City she was selected from among the Iowa delegation to represent that state in the health contest which was staged among contestants from nine different states. The health experts gave her a score of 99.9, which is probably the nearest to perfection that any member of the boys' or girls' clubs has been awarded.

Partridge Enters Home.

Chardon, Ohio.—N. M. Goodrich was awakened recently by a crash of glass. A partridge flew through a 16 by 46-inch pane in his home. It flew through the shade, pulled a curtain over against a fish globe, struck a mirror and lay dead behind a punch bowl. At this season of the year the young broods of partridge scatter, flying seemingly without purpose, and often in flight strike the side of a building with great force, always with fatal results.
